

Welcome to edition 199 of Speedway Australia's Speed eNews.

eNEWS AND STAND DOWN LIST WEDNESDAYS

In order to relieve some of the pressure on track administrators, the eNews and Stand Down List will now be published on a Wednesday afternoon.

Often, track personnel are busy preparing for the weekend's event when the eNews and Stand-Down list are sent out, leaving it unread, or irrelevant by the time they get to read it after the event.

Furthermore, racers who have been added to the Stand-Down list will be given a few days notice before a potential race meeting rather than arriving at an event to find they are not permitted to race.

As a result, the infringement process will now require a weekly deadline to be included in the Stand-Down list that week. Speedway Australia must be informed of an infringement by start-of-business Tuesday morning to allow time for processing and the offender to be notified by email before the new Wednesday afternoon publishing time. Any infringement correspondence with Speedway Australia that misses the deadline will be carried over to the following week.

WORKSHOP WEDNESDAYS COMING SOON!

The success of the Speedway Australia Commentators Collective has sparked demand for similar live interactive online training programs across the sport.

Requests have been made for workshops with industry experts in speedway photography, track prep, timing, event promotion and even book keeping for our club treasurers! Our sport has an amazing depth of expertise in a multitude of arenas and in the coming months, we will be facilitating workshops on Wednesday nights to develop the sport in key areas.

Stay on the lookout both in the eNews and the Speedway Australia social media platforms for details on upcoming programs that will advance our sport and please email ben@speedwayaustralia with any suggestions of workshops you believe could advance speedway in our nation!
